EDG 6301 Social and Cultural Influences on Learning Online Course

Course Description: Designed to present a broad base of knowledge about culture and learning. Approaches, materials, and research will be investigated. Specific items to be covered include, racism, prejudices, stereotypes, culture, self-awareness, biases in the media and diversity.

Optional Text:

Nieto, Sonia (2012). Affirming Diversity: The Sociopolitical Context of Multicultural Education, 5th ed. Allyn and Bacon: New York

Required Text:

American Psychological Association. (2009). Publication manual of the American Psychological Association (6th ed.). Washington, DC: American Psychological Association.

Learning Objectives and Outcomes:

By the end of the course, the candidate will:

- a. Examine varying definitions and perspectives of multicultural education, consider diversity in adolescent development and experiences (age characteristics, individual and group identity, and cultural influences);
- b. Consider elements contributing to heightened awareness of culture and diversity: age, gender, socio-economic status, geography, ethnicity and race, religion, exceptionality and language;
- c. Explore the relationship of these factors to curriculum in schools and to student success or failure, link home, neighborhood, and community contexts and be able to respond to family uniqueness in supporting communication and relationships between home and school;
- d. Make connections between the context of teaching, school climate, learners and learning processes, and curriculum content responsive to the diversity of culture and background;
- e. Examine the focus of curriculum and educational resources to assess bias and stereotype;

- f. Determine components of a culturally responsive classroom and make applications to today's schools.
- g. Determine how to modify and accommodate exceptionalities of learners to promote success.
- h. Develop professional competence in designing, writing, and documenting courses.

Competencies/Standards:

You can find a copy of the Master of Arts in Curriculum & Instruction INTASC Standards and TExES Competencies in Blackboard.

Competencies for the Master of Education in Student Development & Leadership in Higher education can be found in Blackboard.

Methods of Instruction:

Since this course is primarily online, the candidates are responsible for understanding the assignments and learning the material. If questions arise, it is important to ask the professor immediately for help.

Candidates are responsible for participation in discussion board and activities. Individual tasks are expected and will be used to determine the final grade.

Class will consist of online discussions, individual participation, and papers.

Course Requirements:

The purpose of graduate education is to provide for advanced and specialized training beyond the baccalaureate program. Graduate study is intended to strengthen the academic and professional competence of the candidate, to develop the candidate's capacity for independent study, to familiarize students with past and current research, to train the student in the techniques of research, and to enable the candidate to relate his or her research to the investigations of other scholars and derive significant implications from the relationships.

Graduate study presupposes a broad background of knowledge, an adequate preparation in appropriate fields of study at the baccalaureate level, and a command of skills required to carry on intensive research and investigation with a high degree of resourcefulness and self-direction. Generally speaking, only candidates with superior undergraduate academic records are qualified to pursue study at the graduate level.

It should be noted that graduate studies differ from undergraduate studies in the following respects: (1) The candidate is expected to assume greater responsibility and to exercise more individual initiative. (2) More extensive and intensive reading is required. (3) Greater emphasis is placed on productive research, with particular emphasis on the use of primary materials. (4) Seminar methods are employed with greater frequency, as greater class participation by the candidate is required. (5) Less instruction is provided in content, survey-type lecture courses.

Graduate study thus involves far more than the passing of a given number of courses and the fulfillment of certain minimum requirements. The candidate cannot be content solely with earning acceptable grades. The candidate must continually satisfy the Graduate Faculty in the major field by displaying superior intellectual powers and scholarly commitment in order to maintain graduate status and good standing in the school.

1. Candidates' Participation:

Candidates should participate actively and enthusiastically in all online discussions. Readings, school, and university experiences will prepare candidates for discussions.

When prompted by learning modules, discussion boards, PowerPoint presentations, or at any other direction for participation, the minimum response from each student is: (1) to post a response to the original or initial posting and/or question; and (2) to post a response to another student's posting for a total of TWO responses. More frequent responses are both allowed and encouraged so that each student can learn from peers and professor's insights.

2. Candidates' Written Work:

- Demonstrates content quality and clarity that emphasizes depth and breadth, reflection and insights, scholarly discussion using scholarly vocabulary.
- Clearly shows a high level of understanding regarding classroom discipline/ the topic of discussion.
- Demonstrates writing quality and clarity, including mechanics, spelling, grammar, appropriate language.
- Demonstrates appropriate and accurate inclusion of authority to support discussion, with citations that follow a scholarly (APA) format.
- Demonstrates appropriate use of respectful person-first language (e.g., "student with dyslexia" rather than "dyslexic student").
- Demonstrates an overall appearance according to APA format (title, page, 12pt font, 1 inch margin, and double spaced), completeness, and timeliness.

3. Candidates' Communication:

Candidates should maintain open communication with the instructor. Ask questions in a timely manner to provide time for the instructor to respond prior to due date. Candidates are expected to check Blackboard and ASU email on a regular basis, preferable daily. Candidates are expected to complete assignments and meet all deadlines for submission of coursework.
